New Faculty Research Program for Support in the Humanities
Awards First Grants

The scholarship and research activities of faculty in the humanities enhance FIU’s reputation and visibility. Since her appointment in 2015 as a Faculty Fellow in the Office of the Provost, Rebecca Friedman, PhD, Associate Professor of History, has strived to support and showcase the scholarly productivity of FIU’s faculty in the humanities. Among the numerous humanities-related initiatives that Dr. Friedman has spearheaded successfully during her first year as a Faculty Fellow, one of the most exciting is the Faculty Research Support Program in the Humanities.

The Faculty Research Support Program in the Humanities awards small grants for highly meritorious faculty research projects and interdisciplinary endeavors that have the potential to garner national and international attention, heightening FIU’s profile and prestige and perhaps leading to external funding support. In its inaugural round of funding, eight outstanding proposals were selected from a highly competitive field of more than 40 applications. The six faculty members who received individual research grant awards and the titles of their successful proposals are as follows:

- Jessica Adler, PhD
  Assistant Professor
  History and Health Policy & Management: War and Health: ‘Veterans’ Policies and Perspectives

- Heather Blatt, PhD
  Assistant Professor
  English: Forgotten Materialities of Medieval Book History

- David Dolata, PhD
  Associate Professor
  Musicology: First Recording of Only Handel Arias Never Before Recorded

- Eric Lohr, PhD
  Assistant Professor
  Politics & International Relations: Constructive Jihad: Rural Development and Regime Consolidation in Revolutionary Iran (1979–2013)

- April Menkeaus, PhD
  Associate Professor
  History: An Environmental and Agrarian History of the War on Drugs

- David Rifkind, PhD
  Associate Professor
  Architecture: Modern Ethiopian Architecture, Urbanism and the Building of a Nation

Recognizing that interdisciplinary inquiries are likely to yield broader visions and increase research vitality, the Faculty Research Program in the Humanities also made two awards for interdisciplinary collaborations among the humanities faculty and between humanities faculty and faculty in other disciplines. The team of Whitney A. Bauman, PhD, Associate Professor of Religious Studies, and Nathaniel Cadle, PhD, Associate Professor in the Department of English, received funds to establish the Environmental Humanities Working Group.

Martin Palous, PhD, Director, Vaclav Havel Center for Human Rights and Diplomacy, and colleagues Jennifer Fu, Founding Director of FIU Library Geographic Information Systems Center and Head of Remote Sensing Center, and Jamie Rodgers, Assistant Head of Digital Collections, were awarded a grant to support the Havel Human Rights Dialogues Project.
