ORED Professional Development Resources

The Office of Research and Economic Development (ORED) provides training to the FIU research community in a variety of methods. There are many online training and review sessions provided regarding compliance as well as sponsored research training that can be viewed at your convenience. If more direct training is required, ORED staff is available to provide one-on-one training as needed.

FIU researchers target cell's own machinery in fight against COVID-19

In an effort to help stop the spread of COVID-19, a team of researchers is trying to block a key enzyme in the human cell that the virus needs to thrive. FIU Biomolecular Sciences Institute Director Yuk-Ching Tse-Dinh and Associate Director Prem Chapagain have teamed up with researchers at the University of Texas Medical Branch (UTMB) at Galveston and National Cancer Institute. The team is searching for potential treatment leads, hoping at least one of them will reduce the spread of the virus in infected individuals.
